Knights of Rizal - Diamond Chapter - Jan. 2013

Introduction

Dear Brother Knights of Rizal Diamond Chapter and affiliated chapters in Belgium, Europe and worldwide,

Dear friends of our organization,

On January 26th, we celebrated the 13th Chartering Anniversary of our Diamond Chapter of which you can read a more extensive report on one of the following pages.

The number 13 has opposite meanings depending culture and/or different attitude against superstition, but in many cases is inevitable to skip – unlike they usually do with airplane rows and racecar numbers. Around the age of thirteen, one is gradually leaving childhood to become adolescent. Also our chapter has been growing during this period of a dozen +1 years, thanks to the belief in Rizal’s ideas of our members and their dedication in practicing this teaching. Automatically this creates a strong bond among the group but also towards other Filipino organizations that focus on the same objectives as us.

Also within Dr. Jose Rizal’s family the number thirteen is to be found back: his father, Francisco Mercado, was the youngest of 13 off springs. He, himself, together with his wife Theodora Alonso and their nine children formed a family of 13, although he did not have the luck to see them all alive at the same time. (Conception died in 1865 at the age of three after which three more sisters were born).

Rizal's mother Theodora and his eldest sister Saturnina both died in nineteen hundred and 13, at the age of resp. 85 and 63. The influence of his mother's education, his parents' principles, his brother's practical help and the support of the whole family as well as of befriended compatriots is not to be underestimated. A growing tree can only become strong if its roots are simultaneously becoming stronger, is it not?

The fact that Rizal travelled around the world at that époque is already remarkable by itself. Just remember that Jules Verne's book 'Around the world in 80 days' was only published in 1873. Unlike the book story, Rizal took the time to observe, to study and to register, as much as he could, the different aspects of life, using the varied knowledge he gained before. Without disapproving any kind of community, he retained the various positive elements as a basis for a harmonious nation with equal rights (and duties) for groups with different views. Hence the fact that his opinions are still very actual and universal. Europe (the old world) was the continent by eminent to be studied by Rizal, so many cultures with histories going back millenniums. In the opposite case, it was more unlikely that a European showed much interest in the Philippines, but Dr. Blumentritt was such a person. Although he never visited the islands far away because of health reasons, he was very well aware of what was going on there. Therefore it must have been a great honor for him and Rizal to meet each other after a vivid correspondence. No wonder they became best friends for live.

Rizal studied, worked and lived in several European cities and visited at least 2 time 13 others. To follow some of his footsteps and to enforce the unity among the several Chapters of the Knights of Rizal in Europe, there will be a European Assembly this year. Exact time and place will be communicated in due time. I would like to encourage every knight to participate to this kind of events which create a unique opportunity to meet members of the Supreme Council and members from other chapters.

Our next chapter activity will be a Garden Party on April 13th in Aalter as already announced. Further details will follow as soon as finalized. Bring your camera and your widest smile because this is an ideal place to take your winning picture that you can enter in the 'Smile of the world' competition. See further in this Newsletter.

See you soon.

13th Chartering Anniversary – Diamond Chapter

13 A lucky or unlucky number? Definitely a lucky number for the KOR Diamond Chapter for our annual chartering!

We could welcome about 70 participants in a beautifully renewed “De Watermeulen”. The reception was held at the open second floor, overlooking the ground floor. Excused because of sickness was Sir Peter Van Bogaert and Sir Rik Van Tiggel could not be present because of work responsibilities outside the country. But both their wives did not want to miss the occasion and were present. Besides our members and spouses there were also a number of sympathizers who almost become regular participants to our gatherings. Everyone also appreciated the presence of our European Regional Commander, Sir Rudy Nollas and our Belgian Area Commander, Sir Abeth Arevalo.

The official ceremony part was held on the ground floor. Sir Kris Van Thillo gave the welcome word. Ms Christina Rola, Secretary & Consul of the Philippine Embassy read the message of the Philippine Ambassador Mrs. Victoria Bataclan. Sir Dominiek Segaert read the message from the Belgian Ambassador in the Philippines, Mr Christian Meerschman, honorary member of our chapter since 2010.

Ms Christina Rola and Sir Lucien Spittaël

After the introductory speeches, Sir Paul Verloo led the ceremony for dubbing three new knights: Willy De Meyere, Luc Raes en Peter Uhrig. A very big welcome to our new knights!

Sirs Willy De Meyere, Luc Raes & Peter Uhrig

Sir Peter De Bruyn and Sir Andre Heyse were elevated to KOR by Sir Abeth Arevalo.

Sir Danny Vandenberghe, our newest board member, was exalted to KCR by Sir Rudy Nollas.

Certificates of Appreciation were also presented to Sir Geert Verhaegen, Sir Guy Waterloos and Sir Peter De Bruyn for their continued involvement in social projects in the Philippines.

No anniversary celebration is complete without the mandatory toast.

Dinner was already waiting by the end of the ceremonies. As always the food was delicious and sumptuous!

After the dinner, Marisa Van Thillo and some of the ladies surprised us in a very original way; they performed a play about the mother of Rizal.

The play, "Teodora" portrays our national hero's dying mother bereft of all that she valued: her wealth, her honor, her knowledge, her sight, and her beloved, Pepe. We see her here, in a dark corner, asking herself if it was all worthwhile, if her son had better not known too much, if she were to be blamed for all that had happened as she finally comes face to face with God. She realizes there is only one thing that she had become when all had been taken away. As she humbly asks for forgiveness for all her shortcomings, we witness slowly that Teodora's life had indeed become a gift for many Filipinos. With nothing else to hold on to but her faith, she unknowingly allows herself to become "a gift of God": TEODORA. It is the story of many Filipinos.

"Teodora" was originally written by Rene Villanueva as a monologue commissioned by the resident theatre of the Cultural Center of the Philippines (CCP), Tanghalang Pilipino in 1993. Mr. Villanueva is best described by the UP Alumni.net as "a playwright, who was among the leading figures in children's literature in the Philippines. He was in the hall of fame list of the Don Carlos Palanca Memorial Awards for Literature." He is also known for having written the theme song lyrics of the Philippines' longest running children's educational TV program, "Batibot". However, Mr. Villanueva died in 2007 at the age of 53, leaving his country anthologies of children's books recounting well-loved stories, and theatre plays.

Much kudos to especially Marisa for choosing and directing the play and to the other ladies for their magnificent performance: Suzanne Guansing, Mayet Foloso, Faith Nunez, Felly Bustamante Facto, Rhieyah Van Tiggel, Gina Navea and Grace Almacen!

The evening was ended by the dansers...

Our trip to the homeland and the connection between Rizal and Balayan.

Sir Francois Ooms, KGOR

This article is written by Sir Francois Ooms during his stay in the Philippines. We invite others to write down and share their visits and impressions of the Philippines and the people.

As we do every year, we came to the Philippines to avoid the harsh winter in Europe. My Wife Minda and I left on 20th October via Etihad airways. On arrival in Manila we checked-in at the Manila Mansion for a couple of days, just to relax from the long trip. Being in Manila I took the opportunity to pay a courtesy visit to IHQ to greet and talk with the staff. After a couple of days we resumed our travel to Balayan, Batangas, the home town of Minda, which is located about 2/3 hours drive South of Manila, depending on the traffic.

Balayan is one of the oldest, most prosperous and historical towns in Batangas Province.

Part of Balayan's beauty is its close affinity with its history. The town was one of the first settlements in the Philippines, with existing records of local residents exchanging barter goods with Chinese traders dating back to the mid-14th century.

The area around Balayan figured greatly in Chinese records as the centre of the country they called Mai-I, which was derived from the ancient word 'Bai', meaning 'house' or 'settlement'. Over time, the name shifted to 'Balay', after the Visayan, until the final name of Balayan was coined. Despite the presence of Spanish forces in the Philippines, a number of areas around the archipelago were often plagued by attacks from Muslims. In the mid-18th century Muslims were able to take over the town, keeping it under their control for two months. When they left, they burned-down the entire town. The event prompted local officials to construct a fort to prevent further Muslim attacks. With much of the town's life steeped in Spanish colonial culture, starting with the coming of Franciscan friars in 1572, it is not surprising that it values this part of its past.

Balayan is also the home town of the Lopez Family, a member of which, Don Sixto Lopez, was a good friend and supporter of Dr. Jose Rizal. Don Sixto Lopez became closely associated with Dr. Jose Rizal, the Philippine's National Hero. During the Philippine's uprising against Spanish authority it was Don Sixto Lopez who privately gave personal and financial aid to Rizal and his works and who later helped introduce and circulate Rizal's novels in the Philippines.

When Rizal was arrested, Sixto Lopez was likewise hunted down for incarceration, on the ground that he was "Rizal's most active agent". Later on he escaped Rizal's fate only when he accepted voluntary exile from his native land and soon thereafter, together with Dr. Regidor of London, endeavored to rescue his friend from the hands of his executioners during Rizal's memorable voyage from Barcelona to Manila.

Finally, following Rizal's death, it was Don Sixto Lopez who humbly took up the banner that had fallen from Rizal's dying hands and he continued to work unassumingly for the independence of his country, notwithstanding the swift political changes during those times and in spite of his personal family loss and misfortune.

The old house of Don Sixto Lopez is still standing and is well preserved by the family. A few years ago I visited the house together with my good friend Sir Don Brennock from Ireland and found some interesting artifacts there.

Name plate of Sixto Lopez

This photograph has a special interest owing to the attitude of the Manila authorities toward the dead and the living patriot: while the Members of the Civil Commission were each subscribing to the erection of a monumental statue to Rizal, they were at the same time excluding Lopez from his and Rizal's own native land. It is also interesting because of an incident, which occurred when the photograph was being taken. In response to the customary injunction to "look pleasant," Rizal is reputed to have said to Lopez, "Yes . . . imagine that you are about to be executed by the Spaniards!" These words proved prophetic for Rizal five years later.

That is a little snippet of the history of Balayan and its connection with Dr. Jose Rizal. For me it is an honor to be able to live here in this historical town of Balayan and I am proud also to be an official adapted son of this town.
